

EMPLOYEE SUCCESS STORY

Macy Fisher
Planner II

Managing the flow of materials all the way from order entry to shipping is no small undertaking. To ensure that our mission-critical frequency control and timing solutions are delivered on time and to our customers' exact specifications we depend upon the project management skills and cross-department coordination expertise of planners. Joining our team in August 2016 to help manage product and materials flow, Macy Fisher was thankful to receive mentorship from seasoned program managers and engineers. With the right support, a strong work ethic, and outstanding problem-solving skills she was quickly promoted to planner II. Today, Macy proudly passes on the skills she has learned over the years to new planners. Outside of work Macy volunteers her time with the Austin Humane Society, helping train animals with behavioral issues and the like. Additionally, baking yummy confections at home and spending as much time as possible with her beloved husband, children, and bearded collie mix.

When first joining the team at Quantic Wenzel I was thankful to receive close support from someone who is now one of my closest colleagues, Tamaryne Cornwell. The support I have received from my project manager and many others has laid a solid foundation for my long-term success. I am thankful for that and for the amazing team we have here at Quantic Wenzel.
