

EMPLOYEE SUCCESS STORY

Steve Klein
Program Manager

Steve Klein, Program Manager at Quantic Wenzel since October 2023, oversees multiple programs and projects within one of Quantic Wenzel's production groups. He manages forecasting and budget planning to keep projects on track and works closely with engineering to align priorities with customer goals. When asked about his success in the role, Steve credits Greg Peacock, Director of Operations, for guiding his onboarding and Tamaryne Cornwell, Program Manager, for ongoing support in best practices and knowledge-sharing. One of Steve's favorite projects was collaborating with engineering to overcome a very complex form factor and vibration compensation challenge for a mission-critical program. Outside of work, Steve enjoys hiking-having recently completed a 26-mile trek with his wife-tinkering in his shop, and enjoying every bite of his wife's famous enchiladas, tacos, and spaghetti. His dream vacation is a trip to Australia!

“

Solving tough challenges alongside our skilled engineering team is incredibly rewarding. We all work really closely together through complex system requirements, find solutions, and deliver our best for the customer-it's a good feeling.
